DEAR MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF '76:

Please permit me to join with your family and friends in congratlating you upon the successful conclusion of your high school careers. You have every reason to be justly proud of your accomplishment, and I trust you will continue to strive in the future to do your best in whatever venture you pursue in life. We can only hope that through the efforts of your parents, your teachers, your friends, and through your own efforts that you will provide a sound basis for your future.

The year 1975-76 provided many challenges and experiences for each of you. It is as a result of all the experiences we encounter that our total lives are formed. I have been pleased to have had an opportunity to work with you during the past three years, and I want you to know that I believe your class has helped to re-establish many of the basic principles of human dignity and also of responsibility which have proved to be the background of our country.

In many ways throughout the years you have demonstrated the leadership abilities which are most essential for any success to be achieved. As we plan to begin the third century of the history of our country, I believe you have experienced a good number of incidents whereby you have learned how important you are as an individual. More importantly, how important it is for you to do your best, not only for yourselves, but for those associated with you.

My best personal wishes for you today, and throughout your entire life.

Sincerely,
Edw. J. Stoddard

Hard work and desire was the foundation that the Hambletonian soccer machine used to build its way to a winning 1975 soccer season and a trip to the sectionals for the first time in twelve years. The team started working out in June and continued working hard throughout the summer and straight through the season.

In my opinion as coach, no other team in the past ten years has ever worked or drilled harder than the nineteen athletes who composed the Hambletonian Soccer Team this year.

As the season developed, the "Diamond Defense" and "The Spiders" became tougher and more proud of their county leading shut-out statistics and their goals scored--against percentage. The "Road Runners" were becoming known as the three toughest half back in the Orange National Conference. The striking skill, speed, and toughness of the "Cobra" front line, instilled fear and concern in all those who had to defend against them.

There was, however, another very important factor that kept the Hambletonian soccer machine in action--the eight players who made up the Hambletonian bench. These players gave the first team the back-up that a successfull athletic team needs. Time and again the bench had to be called upon to fill in for injured players. The attitudes of the substitutes typified the attitude of the whole team. They, too, worked and drilled as hard as the starting eleven. This continually created a competitive attitude within the team for the entire season, which made for a more competitive game and a successfull season.

The basic characteristics of a good athlete are determination, pride, desire, self discipline, attitude, leadership, and physical and mental fitness. It was these qualities that each player had, that made Chester strong as a team.

It was that fantastic practice attitude of "Practice the way you want to play the game."

It was the team discipline that said, "Do as you've been told", and "We play our game, not theirs."

Finally, the team slogans of "We will not accept defeat--winning is everything. We take everything and give nothing", that made the Hambletonians victorious.

With all of these ingredients working together for us, we had to win, and we did. We will be even better next year because of it.

My congratulations to the nineteen athletes who have set the example and who have paved the way by doing it all.

Coach Payne

DONNA MARIE FULCINITI

It was easy when I was honestly young to think about life to come in verses, smiles and mysteries, but now I'm not so young. I found myself today, hard at work, blotting out all else, routine, Running down one track. Now I see my broken promises. You see, life crept up on me and I thought I was still young. It was easy when I was honestly Young to think of love as trees and fields, nights and kisses, mysteries, but now I'm not so young. I realize the string in knots and surrendering to the constant confusion and wonder. But it's secure. Me screaming, I'm secure, you see, life crept up on me and I thought I was still young.

(That definitely should be a ten year project).

LINDA O'CONNOR

The World
The world (this utterly unbelievable play of feelings and actions) will be losing its cast pretty soon, or at least one of its actors, for the scenes and acts have become old and stagnant in their, almost cliched forms of incidents and reactions. The price is too high for a balcony seat, and the 3rd chair in the 91st row is losing most of its stuffing. Besides, realism is going out of style.
